Case 1. Intraoperative photograph showing the cortical window used for the intralesional curettage and high-speed burring. The common peroneal nerve has been isolated in the red vessel loops (arrow).